Explain how the IT resources you have, meet the needs of your students and faculty.	The college has set up the computer lab with solar energy to run the computer. Four days a week the trainees have theory cum practical classes where they learn to operate the computers and practice them. Different skill like microsoft programming, Logo, painting, powerpoint programme are taught. These programmes are taught in view of the needs of the teaching aids. As per of the ETE course the students are taught in detail the rules of effective powerpoint programming. They are also taught do's and don'ts of powerpoint programming. According to the need classes on Internet access and function of it are also taught and on request internet is available to the trainees. There are altogether 30 computers. That are always available to the trainees to fulfill their different needs. The lab computers are updated when and as necessary. There are two computers set up for the staff alone and are always connected to internet. Beside their personal academic works they can also connect to sites to gather needful information in the form of written data pictures, or movie clips as and when necessary. The science lab has been equipped with latest light and sound facilities. The professors use the facility as and when they feel the need of it. The light and sound system is powered by solar energy and therefore any time it can be used without any interruptions. There is another portable light and sound system that is available to the staff and according to the needs. It is used either in the college auditorium or in the computer lab. Based on the needs like sports related technical videos or other kinds of moral videos or films are also shown to the trainees.
